

Life is full of evil and misery

Life is full of evil and misery. This is a reality .Once you see this reality and you admit it. Your life will be healthier and happier, once you believe that life is a challenge for everyone. You can stop crying and blaming and yelling about all the evil in your life. Life for you is never going to be easy and free from evil.

I know all about complaining, blaming and crying because I have done my share. Life is a daily fight with evil and crying and birching and giving money to Holy Roller Preacher Men will not change it, all you're doing is making the Holy Roller Preacher Men life better. And deep down inside, do you really think crying and birching and mailing money to TV Preachers will stop life from being a pain? Your loved ones are going to lie to you. You are going to go from one problem to another all your life.

Stories are a good way to deal with life's evils. Without understanding stories you will be a pain to yourself and to other people and all your life. As you start to understand stories, you will start to solve your problems by understanding that you are an actor in a story and it is your right to change rolls. If you do not keep change your roll as you meet new evils, one day evil can kill you.

What makes life difficult is the way you actor when meeting evil. Evils can arouse frustration, grief, sadness, loneliness. But most of all its fear and despair that is the most agonizing to deal with.

Our daily life will be makeup of deadly evils, but fighting those evils does give our life purpose and meaning.

If you Deal with the evils in your life as they came up. You will be success, but if you go running and crying to a Holy Roller Preacher Man you're going to get screwed and you're going to failure in life.

The only way to truly live is through the anguish of finding ways of dealing with the evils in your life. This is why individuals that are enjoying their lives really welcome the pain of fighting evil. But this is not so for most of us, today we fear the pain and we attempt to avoid all evil things. And we are paying Holy Roller Preacher Man to make all of the pain and misery in life to go away. We are closing our minds to evil by talking pills or pretending there is no evil in our world. And if pretending and pills do not work, we will try to go around evil. And if that fails some will call it love and go to bed with evil, rather than suffer and fight it.

The problem in avoiding evil and the suffering that goes with it is that it leads to mental illness and enslavement. This is why today not wholly mentally healthy people have created elegant unrealities using fantasy thinking to avoid evil and suffering.

By Barry Wyatt